

More grammar mistake practice - 60 sentences

1. They got married in June, which means they're married for almost one year.
2. I'll never be ready by 8 - I take twice long as you to get ready.
3. We're trying to spend as less as possible - don't you have anything cheaper?
4. He won't listen to me - do you please speak to him, please?
5. Would you like coming with us to the cinema later?
6. Do you know what the weather's like in New Zealand in June?
7. You hadn't to go to the party yesterday - I'd told it wasn't a good idea even before you went.
8. What's happened yesterday? When I arrived, everybody was in a bad mood.
9. I've got a friend coming from Spain staying with me just now.
10. His accent's so strong you won't able to understand what he says.
11. My wife's had hers for years and it still works perfectly.
12. We haven't decide what to do yet - I'll let you know.
13. I'll tell you, but you mustn't let other people know.
14. Napoleon was already dead in 1822 - as far as I know, he was dead of cancer the year before on the island of St Helena.
15. We were living together for a year when we got married.
16. I've been trying for years but I could never tell the difference between these words.
17. The later we get there, the longer we'll have to wait to get in.
18. This must be one of the best book I've read this year.
19. Ann: David said he's coming to the concert.     Bob: Great. What about inviting her sister as well?
20. We couldn't reach the ski resort because it was snowing for 24 hours.
21. Ann: Who can come to the party?     Bob: Anybody can come as long as everybody brings something to eat.
22. I'm so pleased we haven't to go to school tomorrow!
23. The film wasn't bad, though I did expect it to be better.
24. Ann: I'm always right, aren't I?     Bob: Not only you are always right but you're also very modest!
25. Ann: Have you never been to the Pompei?     Bob: No, and everybody keeps telling me I must go.
26. Ann: Who helped you?     Bob: Anyone, I did everything by myself.
27. I'm still doing my homework because I couldn't finish all the exercises before lunch.
28. I'd never come back to that restaurant next to the Colosseum - the food was both bad and expensive.
29. How many exams have you left?