

1. The Colosseum was been built by the Romans.
2. I'll call you as soon as I'll get home.
3. I had no idea what the problem was.
4. I didn't know you wanted come with us.
5. It's quite expensive but I think it worth it.
6. We're waiting for half an hour - why are you late?
7. I'm very sorry to hear that, but thanks for let me know.
8. I don't think French is as much difficult as German.
9. I'm not used to drive in Rome - I find it quite stressful.
10. If she hadn't spent 2 years in New York years ago, she wouldn't speak English so fluently now.
11. A new hospital is being built near my house.
12. I haven't heard Tom for ages. I hope he's well.
13. Ann: How did you go in the exam last week?     Bob: I'm going to find out tomorrow.
14. Ann: I couldn't do the second exercise yesterday.     Bob: You should tell me - I was free to help you.
15. Ann: Have you had your car long?     Bob: I've got it just over a month ago.
16. She didn't have her computer because it was still been repaired. It took them longer than they expected.
17. What restaurant did you go yesterday?
18. When I moved to this area, the station was already open - it was been finished the year before I arrived.
19. I can't remember what floor you live - is it the second or the third?
20. There weren't as many people today as yesterday.
21. I spoke to Dave five minutes ago - we meet at 8 outside the cinema tonight.
22. Shall you tell them we can't go or shall I?
23. Believe me - it takes very longer to get there by coach than by train.
24. If I had the money and time, I'll travel around the world.
25. We've had a lovely time at the seaside last week.
26. I honestly didn't think it would have been so expensive.
27. Who's pen is this?
28. It started raining in the morning, that is why we decided not to go.
29. They managed to win the match yesterday although the absence of their best player.
30. When I was at school, I've never studied either French or English.
31. I wouldn't call him now - it's very late and he might sleep.
32. Are you able to help me?
33. They know one another since they were in their teens.
34. Yesterday's match was watched by more than two million of people.
35. You'd been to London before, wouldn't you?
37. She doesn't want to know what the film speaks about.
38. Thank you for offering to take me, but I'd rather to go on my own.
39. What mark did you take in your exam?
40. Ann: How about to go for a pizza this evening?     Bob: That's a great idea.
41. Ann: Where was he going?     Bob: I'm not sure, but he might have been going to pick his wife up.
42. Ann: Have you never been to the Vatican? I can't believe it!     Bob: No, never.
43. I spoke French fluently by then because we were living in Paris for five years.
44. Although they don't always agree each other, they do respect each other.
45. If we had to change trains, we'd have missed our flight last week.
46. My boss doesn't think I'm enough patient to work on this project - I get angry too easily.
47. Ann: Where are you?     Bob: I'm just arrived - I'm parking.
48. Ann: You'd like a coffee, don't you?     Bob: How did you guess?
49. How much had you to wait before you could see the doctor on Monday?
50. Nobody knows how long they've been married.
51. Ann: Can I see it?     Bob: Sure, I show you it at once.
52. Nobody's obliged to go - you mustn't go if you don't want to.
53. I've never been but I'll go this weekend - my husband's booked a hotel for two nights.
54. Ann: Where and when are you born?     Bob: In Florence in 1998.
55. In some periods of the year, as Christmas, they are open until 9 pm.
56. Ann: Who told you you could go?     Bob: The teacher said I could go.
57. My daughter didn't used to like vegetables - she loves them now.
58. Ann: Have you finished?     Bob: Almost; I'm two sentences left.
59. I think he's happier this year then he was last year.
60. They're in London with their friends enjoying themselves.